J. L. Rogers, 76, Perishes in Home Fire Here

J. L. Rogers, aged 76, perished about 10:40 Sunday night when fire practically destroyed his home at 401 South Hervey Street. Mr. Rogers lived alone.

Officials believe the blaze started from a gas stove in Mr. Rogers' bedroom which appeared to be the center of the blaze. Firemen were able to keep the fire from spreading to the front section of the house.

It was some time before firemen were able to find Mr. Rogers body. A resident of Hope for many years, Mr. Rogers was a retired bookkeeper. He worked for Temple Cotton Oil Company a long time.

He is survived by a son, Commander James L. Rogers stationed at Quonset Point, Rhode Island and a daughter, Mrs. H. H. Orton of Ashdown; a brother, Mack Rogers, two sisters, Mrs. Effie Kelling and Mrs. Z. T. Bailey, all of Willisville.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete but will be announced by Herndon-Cornelius Funeral Home.

Symington Could Get the Nomination

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UP) — Stuart Symington in a handsome 55-year-old Missouri of whom the whole world may become abruptly aware some hot night next August.

Symington is the junior U. S. senator from Missouri, serving a first term to which he was elected in 1952. It is quite possible — it is not yet probable — that the Democratic party will nominate Symington for President this year.

He would be a compromise candidate, considerably short of a 100 per cent left winger, but not a conservative, either, by a large margin. There is more than a whisper of speculation in Washington that Symington would stand to gain the most if the three more publicized Democrats were rejected.

The three are: Adlai E. Stevenson, Illinois; Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee, and Gov. Averell Harriman, New York. Former President Harry S. Truman nominated Stevenson almost single-handed in 1952. There is some basis for doubt now that Mr. Truman is in Stevenson's corner.

Harriman looks more like Mr. Truman's man. Stevenson is being accused of straying to the middle of the road. The left wing of the Democratic party seems to be a bit suspicious of him. Harriman and Kefauver are 100 per centers, loyal to Mr. Truman's fair deal and therefore without much support from middle readers and with none among party conservatives.

On the basis of their records, Mr. Truman could go easily for either of them, except that Kefauver offended in 1952 by meeting and beating the then President in New Hampshire's presidential primary. Mr. Truman is not likely to forget that.

Neither would he be likely to forget that Symington served him well and that they are fellow Missourians, although Symington is a carpet bagger of sorts, having been born in Massachusetts and schooled in the East.

Symington was FDR's wartime assistant secretary of war for air. He was first secretary of the Independent Air Force under Mr. Truman. Later he was chairman of the National Security Resources Board. When the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was in trouble, Mr. Truman named Symington administrator to untangle it.

Republicans and Democrats agree that Symington did a good job wherever FDR or Mr. Truman put him. Before the war he was president of the Emerson Electric Manufacturing Co., St. Louis. He has, as the saying goes, met a payroll.

Mrs. S. is a charming woman, daughter of former Sen. James W. Wadsworth of New York. When the Symingtons were not exactly in the clouds in the depression days, Eve Symington did a chore of night club entertaining. She sings, and good. There are two sons, Stuart and James.

Symington is an 87 per center on the American for Democratic Action honor roll. That means he voted the left wing, ADA way, on 89 per cent of certain roll calls in the last session of Congress which the ADA chose as standards. The issues involved were taxes, reciprocal trade, foreign aid, public housing, statehood (Alaska and Hawaii), natural gas, the census resolution against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Only 11 Democratic senators had higher percentages in the ADA calculation. Only four senators were garded 100 per cent — Humphrey, Minn.; Lehman, N. Y.; McNamara, Mich., and you guessed it, Kefauver.

Wild West Really Comes to Life

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) — The Sunday afternoon calm of downtown Phoenix was shattered by the snorting of Brahman steers as police took potshots at a pack of the beasts who broke out of their feed pen.

Four were cornered after about an hour, the other four were killed.

One steer charged through the baggage room at Union Station, sending redcaps and tourists scattering from his path. Police needed 33 bullets to kill one, 16 for another and 14 for a third. Police Sgt. Melvin Weil fired 10 shots at one beast; Weil said later:

"He just shook his head and kept coming. I jumped in my car."

Four more shots from a high-powered rifle brought him down.

Discovers the Crow Population in U.S. Is Three Billion But Only 100 Albino Crows Left

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (UP) — Typewriter

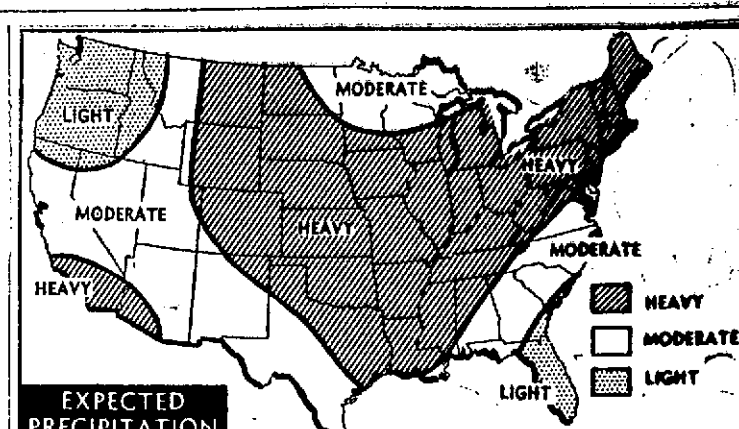

Would you live to know what it is that meadowlarks and robins sing about so early in the morning?

Well, there is a way to find out — if you go for the superstitions. There was a belief in medieval times that anyone who ate the tongue of a white crow would understand the language of all birds.

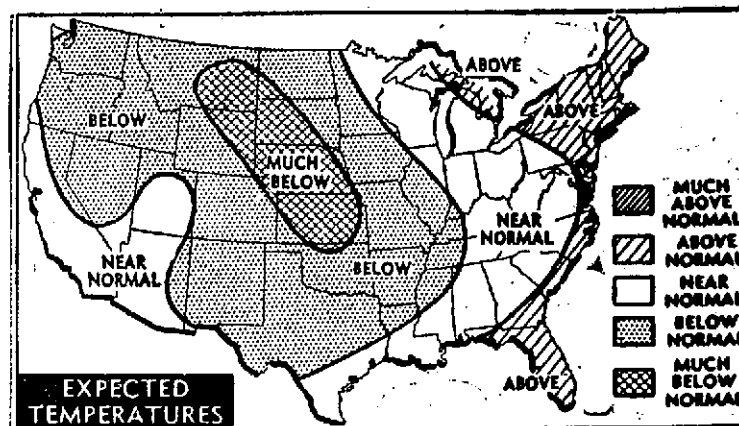

There are two problems involved: (1) The crow population of America has been estimated to be as high as three billions (that seems awfully high), but the Audubon Society is reported to have observed fewer than 100 albino crows in the late half century.

(2) There are even fewer cook books which contain recipes on how to dish up crow tongues palatably.

However, Joe Pellegrino, a Boston macaroni magnate, is now try-

Precipitation in February is expected to be subnormal in the Pacific Northwest and in the Southeast. Above normal amounts are expected in the rest of the country.

Temperatures in February will average below seasonal normals in most of the country west of the Mississippi. Eastern third of the nation is expecting near normal temperatures.

Sen. Hennings Resigns From Committee

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) today resigned from the Senate Elections Subcommittee to clear the way, he said, for a broader investigation of the offer of a $5,000 campaign contribution to Sen. Case (R-SD).

The matter is now under study by a special committee whose members said in advance they planned only a narrow inquiry into the one incident. That group may decide today whether to seek to broaden the investigation, which has turned up information that the money came from the funds of an oil company president.

Case in disclosing the offer said he saw it as evidence of an excessive interest in his position on the bill to free natural gas producers from direct federal price regulation.

Until the special group took over, Hennings had planned a broader study by his group.

Hennings in a prepared statement said he is resigning as chairman and member of the elections subcommittee because he is convinced its broader inquiry "could not be made as long as I was a member of it" because of objections from some fellow senators.

It is customary for senators up for re-election to get off the committee.

"I can no longer permit my membership on the subcommittee to serve as a refuge for those who may be adversely affected by an investigation," Hennings said.

"With my resignation today, no legal or procedural objection remains to the commencement of this important inquiry."

The statement said Hennings "is heartened by the knowledge that by stepping aside I will enable the investigation to continue under the able and forthright leadership of Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn)."

Hennings said Sen. Curtis (R-Neb), a member of the elections subcommittee, had objected to his remaining on the subcommittee and that a majority of the parent Senate Rules Committee had seemed to agree with Curtis.

He said Curtis' objections "were not personal but were based solely on the fact that I would be a candidate for re-election this year" and because the subcommittee policies senatorial elections.

Toledo Blast Leaves One Person Dead

TOLEDO, O., (UP) — An explosion and fire ripped a mid-town meat packing plant today, destroying four buildings.

Police said one man was known dead and that two others were missing and presumed dead. Officers said all others involved in the blast had been accounted for.

The body of Paul Borcherting, 54, was recovered from heaped rubble that once was the three-story Beagle Meat Packing plant. He was a plant employee.

James Libhart, 41, and Melvin Kegelman, were missing and presumed dead. They also were employees of the company.

Stanley Damschroeder, 40, was blown clear of the collapsing building by the blast. He said he lit a cigarette at the door of a refrigerator and "everything went haywire."

Fire Chief Arnold Papenhagen estimated total damage at more than $1 million.

The chief said the blast ignited a fire in the collapsed brick building.

All available police and firemen were hurried to the scene—a six-block area just south of the center of downtown which was littered with pulverized window panes and rubble-bombed autos.

In addition to one known and two presumed dead, two were injured. They were Damschroeder and James Dunn, a laborer who was in a truck at the rear of the packing plant. They were taken to Mercy hospital.

Also leveled, besides the packing plant, were the St. Louis restaurant the Lutheran book shop and the unoccupied Stanley J. Brown building.

Reds Warn of Using Troops in Mid East

MOSCOW (UP) — The Soviet Union issued a warning tonight against use of any foreign troops in the Middle East without a prior agreement and U. N. approval.

It said any expansion of "aggressive activities" in the area will fall within the Soviet orbit of interest.

A statement handed to correspondents at the Foreign Ministry said:

"Any act such as the entry of foreign troops on the territory of nations of the Middle and Near East, without the prior agreement without the sanction of the Security Council of the United Nations, would be a rude disruption of the principles of the United Nations and the sovereignty of a number of nations."

The Foreign Ministry said the statement was issued as a result of the Eisenhower-Eden declaration in Washington. This expressed willingness to support any U. N. action to preserve peace in the Middle East. There has been talk of an international army to guard the frontiers between Israel and Arab countries.

"As far as the Soviet Union is concerned," the statement said, "the Soviet Union will defend the freedom, independence and principle of noninterference in the internal affairs of countries of the Middle and Near East. Together with other interested governments, it will support the security of this area."

Court Knocks Out Expenses for Judges

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today knocked out expense accounts for circuit judges and chancellors which would raise their total yearly compensation beyond the $7,200 maximum fixed by the constitution.

By its ruling, the court nullified two 1955 legislative acts providing for the expense accounts.

The unanimous decision, written by Associate Justice George Rose Smith, was handed down jointly in three cases from Saline County.

All three were brought by former Saline Rep. J. A. Gipson, a frequent litigant, and all involved expense payments for Circuit Judge Ernest Maner of Benton.

In two cases the court reversed Maner's actions in entering orders allowing himself $200 a month expense money as authorized by the 1955 Legislature.

In the other, the court reversed Special Chancellor D. A. Bradham, who had refused to enjoin Saline Treasurer David Young from making the payments contemplated by the Legislature and by Maner's orders.

Bradham was upheld on one minor point. The Supreme Court agreed with him that furnishing of a telephone from Judge Maner's court house office was a proper county expense. Gipson also had sought to enjoin payment for his telephone.

The high court's opinion said the only question was whether the two acts conflicted with Amendment 37 to the state constitution. The amendment, adopted in 1946, fixed the $7,200 annual limitation in compensation of circuit judges and chancellors.

The Supreme Court said, "We know without proof that a trial judge's conscientious discharge of the heavy responsibilities placed upon him by law involves financial hardships of which the general public is wholly unaware."

"The question, however, is one not of expediency but of constitutional law. We find it impossible to hold that the acts are not in direct conflict with the plain, language of the constitution."

The two 1955 laws declared unconstitutional are Act 109 and Act 142.

Act 109 applied only to the Seventh Circuit of which Maner is judge, allowing him a $200 a month expense account to be paid by Saline, Hot Spring and Grant counties, which compose the district.

The other act is of a general nature. It would have permitted any circuit judge or chancellor to determine mileage and other expenses brought about by duties imposed since adoption of Amendment 37 and to direct that such expenses be paid by counties composing the judge's district.

Gipson was plaintiff in another case decided by the Supreme Court two weeks ago. In this case, the court held that State Hospital Supt. E. H. Crawfish had not received any improper payments in any or services above his authorized salary, but that other hospital employees would have to repay money they received above their salaries as fixed by the Legislature.

Truthfulness of Red Leaders Is Questioned

By JOHN H. CRIDER

LONDON (INS) — The British government officially questioned the truthfulness of Soviet leaders today in the mysterious case of the turncoat British diplomats, Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd did this in the House of Commons even at a time when "active preparations" are under way to entertain Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev when they visit Britain this spring.

The reappearance of Burgess and Maclean in Moscow Saturday after their disappearance nearly five years ago touched off questions by the Laborite opposition.

Lloyd rapped what he called the Soviet "lack of candor" in the case.

He cited the fact that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told Harold MacMillan, then British foreign secretary, last October at the Big Four Geneva Foreign Ministers' conference that he was unable to give any information on Burgess and Maclean.

He also mentioned Khrushchev's recent claims that he knew nothing of the missing diplomats.

"The house," said Lloyd, "must be prepared to draw its own opinion about the veracity of these statements."

Lloyd added that the statement issued by Burgess and Maclean in Moscow "could be used for propaganda purposes."

He noted that the two men who

Third Party Rumblings Remind Democrats They Can No Longer Be Certain of Southern Votes

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UP) — Fresh third party rumblings from the South reminded Democrats anew today that they can no longer go into a presidential election with 128 sure electoral votes from the old Confederacy.

One Southern leader here, who is considered one of the most astute interpreters of Southern thinking, is warning privately that the Democratic presidential ticket can lose more Southern states this year than in 1948 or 1952.

This Southerner, who is no fan of Adlai E. Stevenson but believes he is the strongest contender for the presidential nomination, appraises the outlook this way:

If Stevenson can "dominate" the national convention, the convention probably will adopt a party platform which the South will not like but will swallow. In this event, the South may be safely Democratic in the election next Nov. 6.

But if the convention should defy the South and adopt a platform with strong civil rights and anti-segregation planks, a Southern revolt dwarfing that of 1948 may develop.

Southerners in Congress have contended that the Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in schools is striking more deeply in the South than non-Southerners are willing to recognize.

Neither the Republicans nor Democrats outside the South are disposed to go along with Southern Democratic leaders on this issue. Hence any Southern defections from the national party would be expected to follow the pattern of 1948 rather than 1952.

In 1952, President Eisenhower carried four Southern states—Texas, Virginia, Tennessee and Florida — to give the GOP its first significant victory in the South since 1928.

In 1948, the states rights Democratic party was formed in a Southern rebellion against President Truman and the party platform of that year. With Sen. Strom Thurmond, then governor of South Carolina, as presidential nominee, the party carried Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Louisiana.

Any similar revolt this year could be successfully only if it threw the presidential election into the House of Representatives by depriving both GOP and Democratic presidential nominees of a majority of the electoral college vote.

The 11 states of the old South have 128 electoral votes, almost half the 268 needed to win a presidential election.

Ike on Vacation to Ponder 2nd Term Decision

WASHINGTON, (UP) — President Eisenhower's doctors will give him tomorrow a new medical report which he will study in deciding whether to seek re-election.

In advance of reporting to the President, the physicians who examined him Saturday will be joined by Dr. Paul Dudley White for an analysis of results of the tests.

White, Boston specialist who has been chief consultant on the case since Eisenhower's Sept. 24 heart attack, is scheduled to arrive here late tomorrow morning from the West Coast.

After Eisenhower receives the doctors' report, their findings will be made public, either late tomorrow or Wednesday morning.

About midweek the President will fly to Thomasville, Ga., to spend several days at the 600-acre plantation of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

Eisenhower told a news conference last week he should have enough information by March 15 to make a decision on whether to seek a second term. And he strongly indicated he will announce it around that time.

The medical tests he completed during a 70-minute stay at Army's Walter Reed Hospital Saturday were his first on an extensive basis since mid-December. His pulse and blood pressure checked daily, however.

The Saturday examination included X-rays, a broad chemistry study, and a cardiogram, which measures heart performance and shows the extent of damage to the heart.

Texas Prison Riot Broken by Gas Bombs

RICHMOND, Tex. (UP) — Tear gas bombs and fire hoses broke up a riot by screaming, cursing convicts at Harlem Prison Farm No. 1 here yesterday.

Approximately 75 armed officers surrounded the two-story concrete dormitory and blocked off all nearby roads in the area after the convicts started smashing windows and setting hundreds of mattresses on fire.

There apparently was no attempt to escape. About half the 400 prisoners at the farm took part in the hour riot. With the exception of 12 Anglo-American trustees, all of the convicts are of Latin-American descent.

O. B. Ellis, manager of the Texas prison system, said the riot was started by about 12 prisoners who he said appeared to be under the influence of drugs.

Ellis said he knew of no reason for the outbreak of violence nor could he say where the prisoners could have obtained narcotics.

In quelling the riot, firemen directed high-pressure streams of water through the dormitory windows and Texas Rangers then threw in tear gas and nausea gas bombs.

LITTLE L

Pressure to Be Object of Investigation

WASHINGTON, (AP)—That was a time when Sen. Francis Case (R-Mo.) set off. It was only a matter of time before there was an explosion in the Senate battle over the gas bill. It lasted three weeks.

A handful of Democrats and Republicans had complained the oil and gas industry was using enormous pressure to get senator to vote for the bill—as a majority did last night—to take direct federal control of natural gas producers' prices. On the other hand, backers said there was heavy pressure from distributing utilities.

None of them said he had been offered money—until Case got up. Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) a week ago demanded a Senate investigation of the "giant oil companies."

The rest of the Senate showed little interest.

Then Case, a South Dakota Republican, told the Senate Friday that a lawyer he had never met told him he believed wanted the gas bill passed—gave a friend $100,000 for Case's re-election campaign. Case said he ordered it retracted.

Yesterday John M. Neff, a Nebraska lawyer who registered in his state last year as a lobbyist for the Superior Oil Co., of Aurora, Tex., identified himself as the owner of the $100,000. He said it was for Case's campaign, with no strings attached.

It seems certain there will be a Senate investigation. It isn't clear whether the investigation will be limited to the Case matter or make a broader sweep.

During the three weeks' debate, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), leader of the bill's opponents, said the "big producers" had put such pressure on the Federal Power Commission (which was supposed to regulate producers' prices) that a "majority of the commission has chosen to play it safe."

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.) said "million dollar lobby of the industry" had pressured all his friends "they use money, and techniques fair and foul." They "beamish individuals who oppose this bill."

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) said in his eight years in Congress, he had never seen such pressure to vote on a bill. He told this writer: "Practically every personal and political friend I ever had was convinced to get me to vote for the bill. It's amazing."

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), author of the bill, said this wasn't a one-way street. That the "utility companies—whose profits might suffer if the producers could charge more for their gas—had set up a well-financed lobby to defeat the bill."

Sen. McNamara said the hidden American politics with the hidden

NEW YORK, (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular today in slow trading. Washington predictions of a presidential veto of any farm bill containing rigid price supports brought initial commission house selling and losses. ## New Storms Strike at West Europe

LONDON (AP) Fresh snowstorms heaped more misery today on freezing Western Europe. The toll of recorded weather deaths climbed to 323 for the past two weeks and scores were missing.

Barthelme Back in Film Land

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Richard Barthelme is back in Hollywood looking as handsome as he did when he palpitated hearts as star of the silent screen.

He is visiting old friends and looking after his real estate holdings, but he hinted that he wouldn't be adverse to an acting return.

Barthelme was one of the great stars of early films appearing in several of the best D. W. Griffith movies and later at Warner Bros. His career extended well into the talkie period, but he became inactive in the middle '30s. He made a brief return in 1939 appearing in "Only Angels Have Wings" with Gary Grant, Jean Arthur and Rita Hayworth.

Since then he has rarely been seen in the movie capital. Arriving for lunch at the Beverly Hills Hotel, Barthelme looked amazingly young for his 58 years. His sleek hair is still jet black and his face has few lines. How has he managed to remain so youthful?

"I don't really know," he replied. "I might say that it was because I led an active life when I was in pictures. I had a yacht and was always swimming, playing tennis or doing other sports. But a lot of actor friends of mine did the same and they seem to have aged with the years."

His best pictures: "Broken Blossoms," "Way Down East," "Tolable David," "Patent Leather Kid" among the silents; dawn "Patrol" of the talkies.

He left Hollywood in 1941 for four years in the Navy and since has lived in the East.

Since the war he has looked after his investments and raised potatoes on his estate on Long Island. He has since sold the place to Henry Ford, but rents a home nearby as well as an apartment in New York. His wife is an interior decorator there.

Whereabouts of Diplomats Revealed

By RICHARD K. OMALLEY

MOSCOW, (AP)—Nearly five years of mystery surrounding the whereabouts of former British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean have been lifted in the shadow of the Kremlin. But most of the riddles were not answered.

The Russians staged a dramatic appearance of the two turncoats Saturday in the National Hotel, three days before the opening of the Soviet Communist party's 20th congress. Two British and two Soviet newsmen were summoned to their five-minute "press conference."

Immediately after, the two were driven off into the night. They left unanswered a host of questions: What underground route carried them through the police nets of Europe? What secrets did they give the Russians? And what world events did this knowledge set off? Did it cause the Chinese Reds to enter the Korean War? Why did the Russians remain silent so long, then choose this time to disclose their whereabouts? What are they doing now and how are they living?

Burgess and Maclean said in a

DOROTHY DIX

Men: Try Charm On Complaining Wife

Dear Miss Dix: I have been married for 12 years. I have worked away from home about half this time but now I have a good job here. I have never been unfaithful to my wife, yet I am constantly facing accusations of infidelity. I can't say "good morning" to a neighbor without having my wife go into a tantrum.

She seems to have an inferiority complex, aggravated by the fact that she isn't a good housekeeper. She just can't manage her work so that she can get out occasionally; in fact, she never even seems to have free time when I'm home. With better management we could get out once in a while and she'd probably get over a lot of her silly notions.

I hand my paycheck over her every week and she does a wonderful job of handling that. But, as I tell her, if she'd just learn to run the house and children a little better, and stop these foolish accusations, we'd be a very happy family.

B. W.
Answer: You may be a loyal husband, a good provider, a man devoted to his family, but in the field of diplomacy you rate exactly zero. If you must live dangerously wave red capes in front of bulls, take to parachute jumping, train wild animals, but you don't tell a woman she can't manage her house. She'll take such criticism from another woman — perhaps — but never from a husband.

Could You Do Better?
Practically every man is convinced his wife is an inefficient manager, but could he do better? In most cases, the answer would be a rousing negative. So much for what not to do. Now for positive advice.

Come home some evening prepared to help your wife get out. True, you work five or six days a week; she works seven. A little help with the housework won't hurt you and it will be an enormous pepper-upper for your spouse. Offer to put the children to bed, dry the dishes or straighten the living room while she gets into her glamor clothes. Maybe it will only be a night at the movies, but believe me it will pay off.

Another thing, when is the last time you paid your wife a compliment, kissed her, bought her flowers, or offered some special attention? A long while ago, I bet. Try new tactics here. Let her know you regard her as something more than a housekeeper. Give her the assurance that she's the one and only gal who interest you, and there'll be no more cause for accusations.

Don't leave everything up to her Pitch in and maneuver a few changes yourself. And God speed your success.

Dear Miss Dix: Being a young fellow in love, I constantly tell my girl, "I love you" and in return she tells me that there is no such thing as love. Caring for a person, she claims, is the answer to the question. Is there or is there not to make my home more attractive."

Mrs. Fred Stewart gave a demonstration on upholstering a chair with foam rubber.

During the business session sides were chosen for the membership drive that is to start in March and end in April with the losing side entertaining the winners. Captains for these two teams are Mrs. Homer Cobb and Mrs. Fred Stewart.

Mrs. Lester Huckabee gave a report on the Officers Training meeting that was held at the courthouse on January 31. Names were drawn for secret pals.

The club project for the year was discussed and unanimously selected, "Aid to Needy Families." Mrs. Cline Franks is chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Arnold Middlebrooks, Mrs. Fred Stewart, Mrs. Harse Vines and Mrs. Hamp Huett.

Mrs. Bryan Camp discussed 4-H Club work for this community.

A dessert plate was served to the following: Mmes. W. H. Huckabee, Arnold Middlebrooks, Homer Cobb, Bryan Camp, Fred Stewart, Elmer Joerger, Hamp Huett, Cline Franks, Lester Huckabee, Claud Byrd, Fred Brandon and a guest, Mrs. H. M. Ward.

The March meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Cline Franks.

MORE MORE
The late Gen. George S. Patton, prophet and hero of American armored might, often got himself in hot water with his blunt opinions.

After the second World War he was among the first to declare there was no essential difference between fascism, nazism and communism. He thought them all bad. He said so.

While Patton will hardly go down in history as a military diplomat, he will be long renowned for the battle field boldness that won him brilliant success.

He was a great showman, a great actor, but above all a great soldier.

To Wendell Phillippi, a Indianapolis News editor and National Guard leader, I am indebted for the following summary of Patton's chief precepts as given by his admirer and comrade, Gen. Jacob Devers:

"1. In yourself demand the impossible.
"2. Always risk. Nothing worthwhile can be achieved without it.
"3. Never listen to the advice of fear."

Patton practiced what he preached. He was human and himself knew fear, but he also knew the terrible corrosion of purpose that fear can bring. Bravery came as hard to him as it did to any other man. By demanding the impossible of his troops — as he did of himself — he gained what ever immortal glory there is a n come from combat.

But no one knew the terrible price of it all more than he.

My favorite mailman, who is delayed neither by storm, nor heat, nor gloom of night in the swift completion of his appointed rounds, has brought me a statistic which I feel impelled to share at once.

Tweed's?

"No. We'll do it right here. It won't take long. We'll need some supports for the casket, though, and maybe some planks to lay the body on. And tell your men to stand by until we're finished. We'll pay for the waiting time. I'll want them to fill in the grave again."

"Okay, I'll get some saw horses and some planks." He laughed softly. "I heard old Wilbur refused to let you use his embalming room. He was sweet on Alice, but she wouldn't marry him until Frank had been dead a year. What time do you think you'll be finished?"

"By sundown, I hope."

"He grinned. 'Five bucks can buy a lot of cooperation. See you later.' The mower's motor swelled, shattering the sunlit morning, and he swung away from me on his high seat, waving an arm. Cut grass sprayed in green clouds from the blades as he guided the mower between the graves. I returned to my car, followed the stoned drive up and down and around between the graves and left the cemetery by the gate I had entered. It was 10 minutes until 12 o'clock noon."

In Beech Tree I turned off the square and took the road leading to Alice Osborn's house. I had except that I had two hours to no special reason for doing so, kill before the funeral. As I approached the place I saw that there were two cars in the drive, the sheriff's black sedan and a glittering pale blue car with Indiana plates. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Woodruff I thought, accompanied by Sheriff Abner Cornwallis, inspecting the lot. I drove past, turned around in a lane, and drove slowly back to the village. It seemed to me that they could have waited until after the funeral.

At the counter in the big corner drugstore I had a toasted ham sandwich, a piece of cherry pie and a glass of milk. As I walked I bought a Steel City newspaper and sat in my car and read it until 20 minutes of two. Then I crossed the square to the Tweed Funeral Home.

Union Decides the GOP to Have Edge

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—AFL-CIO political strategists have decided that the Republicans will have an edge in the 1956 presidential race regardless of whether President Eisenhower decides to run again.

This view is contained in an analysis of the political situation submitted confidentially to the 29-member AFL-CIO Executive Council during its winter session here by AFL-CIO political codirectors James L. McDevitt and Jack Kroll.

A major reason for this appraisal is that Eisenhower's recommendation for increased spending for schools, housing, social security, health and roads have to a large extent deprived the Democrats of some of their most appealing issues.

The conclusion is reached that the decline in farm prices is the most forceful domestic issue left to the Democrats.

"Dandelions are found most abundantly on the warmest areas of the ground and buried heating pipelines often can be traced by their concentration."

Loopholes in Contribution Law Plentiful

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—You can drive a truck through some of the holes in the laws covering contributions and spending for elections of federal government office.

They are outdated, full of loopholes, and, as Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) says, are so unrealistic they not only invite but demand evasion.

He has a bill on tap to tighten and modify them. But the chances that Congress will pass the bill in this election year are slim.

The man responsible for prosecuting violations of these election laws—Warren Olney, assistant attorney general in charge of the laws in the 1952 campaign, and found 139 worthy of investigation. The result: two prosecutions.

These are two of the biggest loopholes in the present law:

1. Political committees can't spend more than three million dollars apiece. But the law is so phrased that this means only national committees—like the Democratic and Republican national committees—and does not touch the many separate state and local committees.

2. The present law gives the government control, such as it is, only over spending in general elections for members of Congress. It excludes primary elections. The Supreme Court ruled 15 years ago Congress could if it wishes, control primaries, but Congress hasn't moved to do so. Yet some primaries are far hotter and more expensive than general elections.

Hennings' bill, approved by a majority of the senate Committee on Rules, would make these changes—among many—in present law:

1. Give the government control over both primary and general elections for federal office.

2. Put the spending of all committees—state and local as well as national—under federal limits if they work for a candidate for federal office.

3. Raise the limit on spending to 12 million dollars and limit state and local committees to a total of somewhere between $50,000 and $250,000 in Senate races and $12,500 and 125,000 for a representative.

4. The national committees, now are required to file reports on the contributions they receive and the money they spend. Hennings' bill would extend this to state and local committees.

The way the bill is drawn, this reporting on spending would require a great deal of paper that is one of the consistent criticisms of Hennings' proposal.

But he says he's not wedded to this measure and if Congress wants to change it, all right, so long as changes for the better are made.

Decisions by Supreme Court

LITTLE ROCK, (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today handed down these decisions:

Earl D. Whitwell vs. Carl J. Henry Sr., appeal from Pulaski Chancery Court, affirmed.

MURAL FOR BROTHERHOOD—This mural appears in the new Building for Brotherhood in New York City. It depicts many peoples working in many ways toward the same goal. Prominent figures in the mural are the late Albert Einstein, right, and African missionary Dr. Albert Schweitzer, looking down. The Building for Brotherhood was built by the National Conference of Christians and Jews to promote world peace and brotherhood. Putting finishing touches on his mural is artist Dean Fausett.

Dewey Harris vs. Bennie Arris, Ouchita Probate Court modified and affirmed.

Rea Howell Davis vs. Jerry T. Perryman, Pulaski Circuit Court, affirmed.

Charles E. Ladwig vs. the Arlington Hotel Co., Garland Chancery Court, affirmed.

J. A. Gipson vs. Ernest Maner, judge, Saline Circuit Court, and J. A. Gipson vs. David Young, county treasurer, from Saline Circuit Court, and J. A. Gipson vs. David Young, county treasurer, from Saline Chancery Court both affirmed.

Eduardo Lausse, the left-hooping Argentine, definitely has ideas about a title match later in the year. He is unbeaten in his last 32 start with only one draw.

Lausse meets Bob Boyd, a fast-improving Chicago contender, in the Wednesday show from Chicago.

Everyone Wants to Fight Sugar Ray

By JACK HAND

Of the Associated Press

Everybody wants to fight Sugar Ray Robinson. That's the only way to explain the lively activity in the middleweight division since Sugar Ray knocked off Bobo Olson to win back the title.

With a no-nonsense Olson rematch set for Los Angeles April 20, the other 160-pounders are forming a long line. Ralph (Tiger) Jones, who was the last to beat Robinson, strengthened his bid last week by knocking out rugged Tony Baldoni. Another pack of middleweights is ready to face the cameras this week.

Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood and Ray Drake, a pair of 160-pounders from Brooklyn who don't figure in anybody's title plans at the present, top the card tonight at St. Nicholas Arena in New York.

Du Mont will telecast. Eduardo Lausse, the left-hooping Argentine, definitely has ideas about a title match later in the year. He is unbeaten in his last 32 start with only one draw.

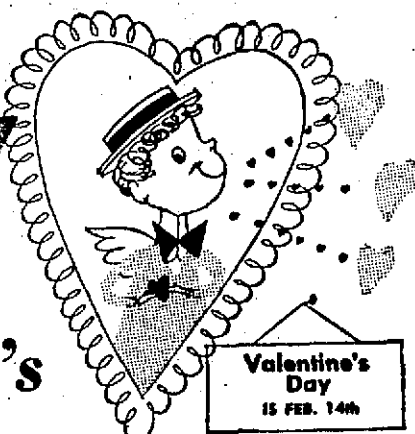

Lausse meets Bob Boyd, a fast-improving Chicago contender, in the Wednesday show from Chicago.

reversed. Wabbaseka School District No. 7 vs. Rubye Johnson, Jefferson Circuit Court affirmed.

The Greeks
Had A Word
For It...

Horse racing has come a long way since the days of the ancient Greeks.

While there may have been impromptu matches at an earlier date, the first organized horse race appears to have been scheduled at the 23rd Olympiad at Athens, Greece, in 660 B.C.

Harness racing came along eight years later when chariot events were introduced at the 25th Olympiad.

Since that time, thoroughbred horse racing has become both the nation's and Arkansas' number one spectator sport, topping all others in attendance records.

The birth of thoroughbred racing in Arkansas occurred in the year 1905 at the inaugural meeting of the then newly constructed Oaklawn Park Race Track in Hot Springs.

Today, Oaklawn Park enjoys an outstanding reputation as one of the fastest and best horse racing tracks in the nation. The finest in thoroughbred racing is a tradition at Oaklawn Park.

NIT Having Trouble With Selections

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

The girls who select the teams for the National Invitation Tournament may be on a steady diet of bicarb this week as college basketball schedules brew a stew that doesn't figure to set well.

The NCAA Tournament Committee, however, can sit back and appraise bevy of close conference races that should send well-tested champions into the final chase for the national title.

Louisville (19-1) is the biggest NIT headache. The Cardinals, with some four-year men who aren't acceptable to the NCAA, should have the NIT licking its chops. But instead, they've been knocking the glitter from NIT entries and could keep it up this week. And that is not going to pack Madison Square Garden next month.

After spilling NIT-bound Marquette 76-6 Saturday, Louisville tonight meets NIT-bound Xavier of Ohio. Friday, the Cardinals run into NIT-bound Dayton again. The Daytonians have lost one of 19—and Louisville did it, 66-64.

Memphis State (17-3) Niagara (15-5), Manhattan (12-5) and St. Francis of Brooklyn (16-0) also could make it a hectic week for the NIT.

Memphis State, ready and waiting for a tourney bid, plays Dayton Wednesday. Niagara, in the same situation, meets Seton Hall, an NIT entry, Thursday. And Manhattan, which eliminated St. John's from the NIT picture last week, challenges St. Francis, already picked by the NIT, tomorrow.

St. Francis, with San Francisco the only major unbeaten left, also plays Brooklyn College Wednesday and St. Joseph's Pa. Saturday. San Francisco, set to defend its NCAA title, can stretch its all-time major college winning streak to 56 games by beating San Jose State tomorrow and St. Mary's (Calif.) Friday.

Oklahoma City (16-4) Temple (17-1) and Holy Cross (17-3) also are safe bets to wind up in post-season tournament. Oklahoma City, which plays Drake tonight, leans to the NCAA. Holy Cross, playing Notre Dame tonight after being upset by Dartmouth 83-67 Saturday, is partial to the NIT. Temple, meeting La Salle Wednesday, could go either way, but probably is headed for the NCAA.

Fay Crocker Wins Miami Women's Meet

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A seven foot putt that fell and a three foot putt that didn't combined to make Fay Crocker the winner of the Miami Beach Women's Open Golf Tournament for the second straight year.

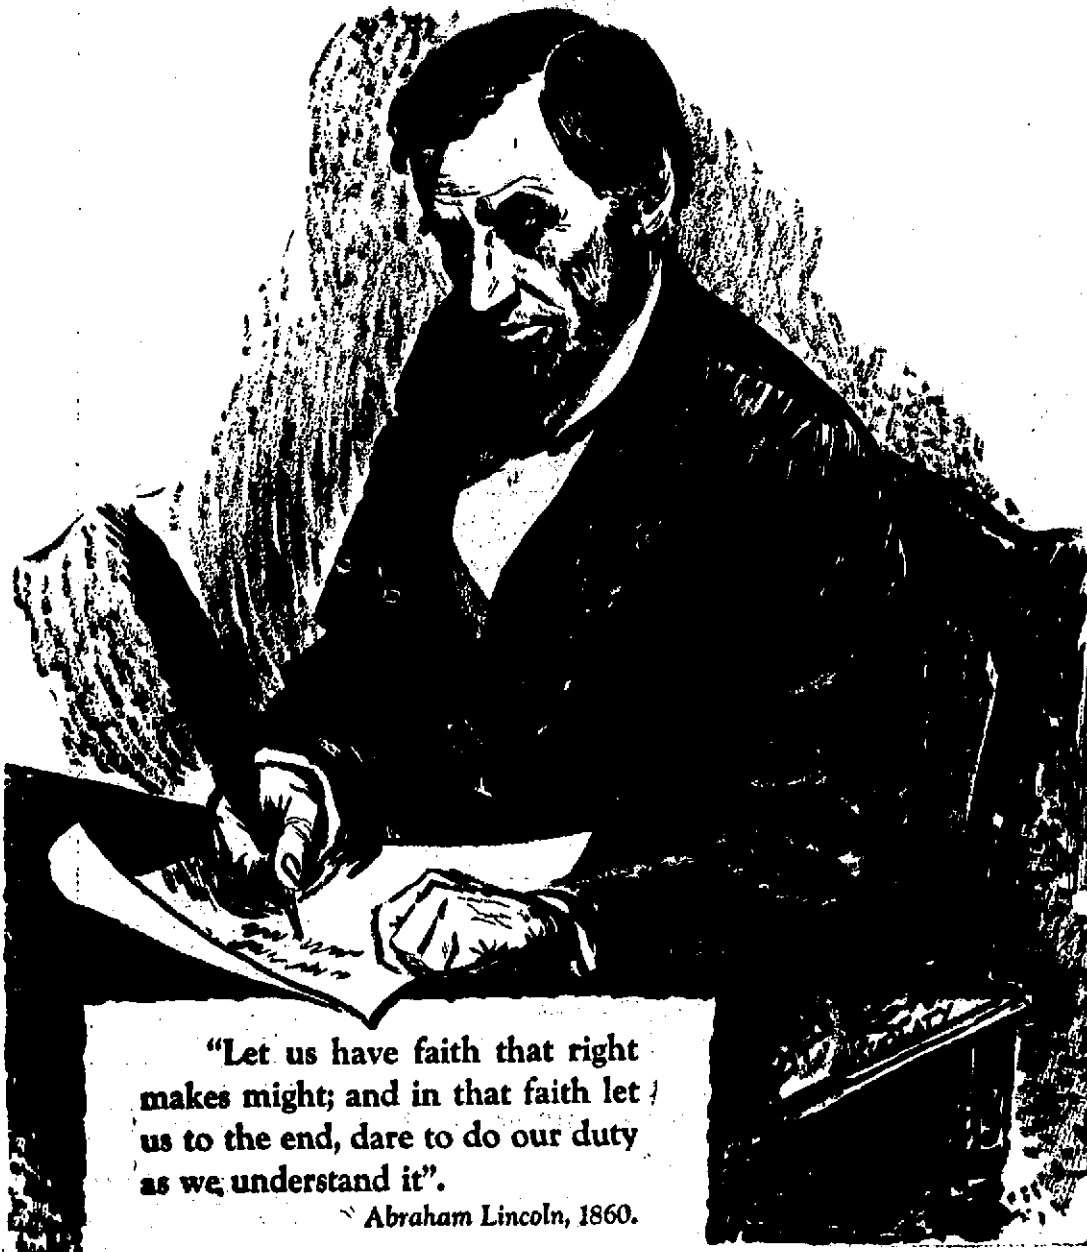

The putt that didn't fall was Patty Berg's, and the veteran St. Andrews, Ill., pro had to take place, one stroke behind the smiling South American.

Miss Crocker and Miss Berg were all even coming into the 19th hole.

Miss Crocker, National Open champion who registers out of Montevideo, Uruguay, posted a 71-73-144 in the 36-hole tournament. Patty had 71-74-145.

Ruth Jessen, a Seattle amateur, and Betty Dodd, a San Antonio pro, fired 71s for the best score in the final round and pulled into a tie for third at 148 with Cathy Cornelius of Lake Worth, Fla.

L. Welk Plays Music Public Likes

By CHARLES MCBR
NEW YORK (AP)—If someone has gone along for much of his life building—so to speak—a pretty good mousetrap, it's always pleasant to note the moment when the world begins beating a path to his door.

Take the case of Lawrence Welk, a calm and thoughtful 52-year-old accordion-playing bandleader who has been "discovered" the past few months by several million television viewers. The popularity rise of his Saturday evening hour of "Champagne Music" on ABC-TV is sensational—if not phenomenal.

Actually, as long as his bosses would leave him alone, Welk has been playing the same kind of music for years in ballrooms, theaters and one-night stands the length and breadth of the country. How many million viewers constitute a TV "discovery"? Whatever the number, Welk happily now has them.

"Champagne Music" is smooth and has the flavor of a little age, as befitting a vintage wine. Welk, whose favorite beverage is milk, can't give you a specific formula for it any more than a French vintner can explain the specific chemical of the specific grape.

"I think," he said slowly, "the other morning [that mothers are the strongest audience in television. If Mom puts her okay on a program it has a better chance of being accepted by the rest of the family." Welk, Mom certainly has put her okay on the music of Welk and his band. But why?

"I think the human ear is untrained to take music as loud and modern and full as many bands have been playing it," says Welk. "The easiest thing for people to understand is the melody. Perhaps many of us have made a mistake in the band business by ignoring peoples' wants and needs."

Kroll Posts Best Score in Tucson Open

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Ted Kroll By MURRAY SINCLAIR
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Ted Kroll has won a lot of golf tournaments in 18 years as a pro but he's never had a 72-hole score like the 264 that won the Tucson Open and $2,000 yesterday.

The New Yorker, now playing out of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., chopped 16 strokes off the El Rio course par-70 during four days of play.

He broke up a duel with Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio, on the 17th green and went on to beat him by three strokes in the final round. Finsterwald, whose broad grin and exciting chip shots made him the gallery's pet, collected $1,400 for his second-place 267.

Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., matched Kroll's 65 and finished with 268.

Kroll turned to Finsterwald after he clinched victory with a birdie on the 18th and told him, "You had me scared all the way."

They went out together in the last threesome with Finsterwald trailing by a stroke. He made that up on the first hole by sinking a 40-foot chip shot out of a ditch for a birdie. Kroll took par-4.

Kroll regained the lead with a birdie on the second. Finsterwald drew even again by sinking a nine-foot putt for a birdie on the third. Kroll went ahead again with a birdie 2 on the fourth. Both went over par on the simple 200-yard, par-3 eighth. Both birdied the ninth, with Finsterwald sinking a 30-foot putt. Both birdied the 10th.

That's the way they stood on the 17th green. Both faced 25-foot putts. Kroll sank his. Finsterwald didn't.

"I figured I was in," Kroll explained. "I lagged on the 18th."

Finsterwald, who had a 267, said he was "in the family."

Kroll, Mom certainly has put her okay on the music of Welk and his band. But why?

"I think the human ear is untrained to take music as loud and modern and full as many bands have been playing it," says Welk. "The easiest thing for people to understand is the melody. Perhaps many of us have made a mistake in the band business by ignoring peoples' wants and needs."

Finsterwald had to chip accurately through trees to make par.

Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, Tenn., winner here two years in a row, ended in a three-way tie for seventh place.

TARGET: RED CHINA—A Chinese Nationalist gunner on Quemoy Island in the Formosa Strait sights his big gun toward Red China to return firepower during a recent artillery duel. He's aiming at Communist military installations on Amoy, about five miles away. The Reds have stepped up their shelling of the Nationalist-held off-shore islands in recent weeks, raising speculations of an all-out Communist attack on the islands this spring.

DOGS
 SCIENTIFIC DOG FEEDING

During the last 25 years the need for the by guess and by gosh of dog feeding has disappeared. The requirements of dogs for various types of food have been accurately determined at dog nutrition research centers in universities and industrial research laboratories where every detail of the dog's diet is considered. In such laboratories earlier research with white rats, mice, hamsters and guinea pigs is used in conjunction with the feeding of dogs and has speeded up the attainment of balanced diets. As a result of this research, most dogs today can enjoy nutritious palatable foods that would have been the envy of their "forefathers."

Writing in "Dogs In Canada," one of the world's really outstanding publications in the field, Dr. H. B. Robinson, director of laboratories of Swift and Company of Chicago has called attention to the tremendous strides that have been made:

"Diet research which has led to the modern dog foods has gone through several phases. Originally, emphasis was placed upon vitamins; then proteins, minerals, carbohydrates and fats were investigated thoroughly. During this time several "panacea" foods — special food that were going to give the dog just what he needed — appeared and disappeared owing to the fact that their formulation had not been scientifically attained."

"Nutrients that are important for proper dog nutrition are present in the correct proportions in the modern 'balanced' dog food. Proof that these balanced diets are superior comes through life-cycle testing. Thus, dogs will grow to maturity, reproduce, nourish their young, maintain their vigor into old age, all on a single-balanced food."

CAUGHT NAPPING—Having drunk their fill, 12 German shepherd puppies promptly fell asleep around the milk pan. But one little fellow, lower right, seems to have a king-size thirst. The pups, 10 days old in this picture, belong to the R. C. Lechners of Jacksonville, Fla.

STRANGE TRIO—Here's graphic proof of the unusual friendship that has grown among "Flocki," the dog, "Murr," the cat and "Moritz," the turtle. The three pets are shown eating from the same plate at their owners' home in West Berlin, Germany.

 Shooting Editor
 The commercial pheasant preserve operation is solidly established at this point, with pay-as-you-shoot farms available within easy drive of any city north of the Mason-Dixon Line, and a growing number of such gunning areas setting up shop in what was once purely quail country.

"Rearing pheasants behind wire, then turning them into cash by turning them out for gunners to hunt, has become a worthwhile business in those days of incredible hunting pressure."

Such natural shooting the commercial farms had to learn to deliver — or else go out of business — and the better layouts are doing well. So long as a man is willing to spend about five bucks a bird — which is anywhere from one half to one fifth of what the average city or town-dweller would pay for his shooting if he traveled far for it — this kind of semi-wild gunning will grow. For the problem of bird-shooting space open to the city gunner, it are faced with one of the ultimate tests of democracy and of our federal system."

Earlier, in a Saturday press conference, he had spoken of this too in calling mob violence at the University of Alabama intolerable. He said when violence forced Miss Autherine J. Lucy of Birmingham, first Negro student, to leave the university, the issue became the sovereignty of the state of Alabama. The law, he said, must be obeyed.

"Men of good will in the South" already have accomplished much, Stevenson said, and coercive federal action . . . will arm the extremists and disarm the men of good will."

Porkers Lose to Rice, in Tie for Second

By The Associated Press
 Southern Methodist's unbeaten but not untried Mustangs ran into a troublesome jinx this week as they seek to nail down their second Southwest Conference basketball championship in a row.

Wednesday night the Methodists play their old nemesis of the home court, Texas Christian at Fort Worth. The Christians have won only one conference game in eight and are going nowhere but what make Coach Doc Hayes of the Mustangs quake is to be reminded that his team hasn't won a game at Fort Worth in seven years.

In the championship drive last year SMU bowed to TCU on its home court, 77-73.

SMU drew a game and a half away from the field last week by lashing Texas 109-96 while Rice was knocking Arkansas down with a blistering 80-83 decision. It shot the Owls into a tie with Arkansas for second place but both teams have lost to games while Southern Methodist has a 7-0 record.

Hayes can see trouble ahead his week all the way around. He sends this team against Texas A&M at College Station Saturday and talks about how tough it can be to beat A&M on its home court too.

Arkansas plays Texas A&M on night at College Station to start a week of six conference games. Tuesday night Baylor and Rice get together at Houston. Saturday night Texas Christian and Baylor clash at Waco while Texas and Arkansas tangle at Fayetteville.

There is one nonconference defeat at the hands of Texas Saturday. Texas moved into a tie with Baylor, which beat Texas A&M 53-66, for sixth. The Aggies are in fourth place.

Rangy Dick O'Neal, Texas Christian's mobile center, still lead the conference in season scoring with 487 points and also in conference scoring with 196. Ray Downs, the Texas hotshot, is just 12 points back of O'Neal in season scoring and seven in conference point-making.
